

Guido Schneider

Bio

Guido Schneider In 1995 he founded his own Label "Neue Welten" based in Celle, Germany. In 1996 he moved to Berlin where he began to fully focus on music. His productions and co-productions (e.g. as "Schneider & Radecki" with Sammy Dee) always sounded sort of minimal, but were also exceptionally functional as he dared to stick his head out of his soundlab at an early stage. This together with the experiences from various live performances helped to perfect his tracks.

Changes marked the beginning of the new millennium: Guido closed down his label "Neue Welten" and met vocalist Florian Schirmacher. After the first joint studio sessions it became obvious that Guido's production and Florian's vocal skills would complement each other perfectly and together they founded the project Glowing Glisses, under whose pseudonym they released 3 singles and the album "Silver Surfer" on Poker Flat. Inspired by the addition of Florian's vocals as an instrument to his music, Guido felt that he was almost able to realize his musical ideas for the first time. The fascination that emanates from "Silver Surfer" is based on the contrast between Florian's warm harmonic vocals and Guido's bleepy, minimal and subtle productions.
